Battle of the Backyards

Catherine Shaw nominated her neighbours, Sarah and Andrew Korbel for a Backyard Blitz, when a mini landslide destroyed not only their own backyard, but three neighbouring backyards. A retaining wall that ran along the back of each of these yards collapsed, and unbeknown to the Korbels, they in fact OWNED this wall, and were therefore liable for all damages and repairs. Newly wed and having just become parents, Andrew and Sarah were facing the prospect of losing their home. To date their expenses have exceeded $150,000.

In a Blitz first, the team challenge themselves to the ultimate test – who can build the best garden in these four small courtyards.

Design intent

Jamie, Scott, Nigel and Jody take a backyard each and design a small courtyard garden. Scott's will have timber seating and decking, Nigel will have paving and wall cladding, Jody's garden will have interesting plants and decorating to personalise and Jamie's will have a strong sculptural design. Matt Cantwell of Secret Gardens of Sydney will be the design consultant for three of the gardens.
